

Abstract

Baculovirus is engineered so that the capsid displays one or more heterologous peptides or protein. Such baculovirus can be used to deliver therapeutics, and in functional genomics.

5